A Message From Our President

As a follow up to the Chamber's position statement regarding the Parkland tragedy that was sent out last month, I want to let you know that the Board of Directors has chosen Kim Kadel and Andrea Jacobs to head a newly formed committee. This committee will be responsible for achieving the goals that the Chamber had outlined in that statement regarding school safety.

Both Kim and Andrea had children in the school at the time of the shooting and they are passionate to make much needed changes. We've already seen some progress through the Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School Public Safety act that was signed by the Governor. My hope is that we can move past the partisan politics and do the right thing for our kids.

I am really looking forward to PWA presented by Baptist Health on April 4th entitled, 2018: The Year of the Woman. We will have a panel featuring some of the most successful and strongest women I know. The panelists include Coconut Creek City Manager Mary Blasi, Parkland Mayor Christine Hunschofsky, Juliet Roulhac Esq., FPL Corporate External Affairs and Erika Royal Esq., Holland Knight.

The It's 5 o'clock Somewhere Grand Gala presented by Joe DiMaggio Children's Hospital & U18 Sports Medicine is on April 13th and I look forward to seeing all of you at the Chamber's largest event of the year. We will be recognizing outstanding business leaders, as well as raising funds for the business clubs of seven local high schools. Make sure to buy your tickets so you can network, enjoy the food wine showcase, auction and live entertainment.

Trustee Spotlight

When Al Hendrickson Toyota opened in 1989, Al Sr. and Al Jr. vowed to "reinvent the automobile business" and make their dealership one of the best. This vow has been kept and most days, you can find the Hendrickson's and newly promoted President Donna Giannoccoli meeting their customers with a friendly handshake, a smile and ready to tackle any questions or concerns a customer might have.

The dealership in Coconut Creek sits on 12.3 acres and has been a recipient of Toyota's most prestigious "President's Award" given only to dealerships that maintain Toyota's high standards of customer service and satisfaction. Along with the retail sale of new Toyota vehicles, the dealership has a vast inventory of quality used vehicles. The Automotive Service Center of America services not only Toyotas, but all makes of vehicles with a very competitively priced service menu.

Smart businesses don't worry about their talent pipeline.

They build it!

Today's high school students are tomorrow's leaders, innovators, and entrepreneurs. For companies interested in shaping and diversifying their future workforce, starting outreach at the high school level—when students begin to explore their college and career options—is critical.

Connect with the next generation of leaders.

Our interns start adding value to your business on day one. The rigorous academics and industry-specific training they receive in school mean that when they come to work for you, they're ready to hit the ground running.

Introducing high school students to your business now helps develop a pathway back to your company for talented employees who are increasingly hard to find.
