

Problem Solving and Information Exchange:

Program Directors 201

Friday, April 12, 2019
CAPCSD

Adrienne Hancock, PhD, CCC-SLP
The George Washington University

Wendy D. Hanks, PhD, CCC-A Pacific University

focus on problems

solutions

Objectives

1. Develop strategies for optimizing graduate student admissions.
2. Identify 3 strategies to manage the advising workload.
3. Describe the key quality outcome measures for your program.

What's Your

Burning

Question?

©CV, 2017, photo by Charles Rondeau, Pixabay

Admissions

- What would be “optimal”?
- Helpful processes?
 - CSDCAS
 - Student interviews
 - Need math prerequisite???
 - Program needs to be accessible to today's students
 - Instagram
 - Facebook
 - Snap Chat
 - Tweet

Managing Advising Workload

- Perfect Paperwork Processes
 - Streamline, Group Advising and Bulk Processing, Smart Scheduling
- Anticipate the Unanticipated
 - Prepare resource sheets, Save email templates, Find problems before they find you
- Encourage others to be self-sufficient
 - Direct them to information (bulletin board, manuals, Blackboard)

Outcome measures

- Determining and Prioritizing Outcomes
 - Requirements of CAA, ASHA, Institution
 - Stakeholder input develops “buy-in”
- Collecting, Analyzing, Reporting Data
 - Minimize meetings: Set timeline, distribute tasks
 - Maximize use: Present it! Publish it!

