Historic Homes Tour

In 1860, John Sikes recorded a plat with the Scott County Recorder. On it Sikes wrote, "I am going to start me a town, and I am going to call it Sikes Town." In the 1920's Sikeston experienced a period of great prosperity and economic growth. At that time the city was home to more millionaires per capita than any city of its size within the U.S. Travel the cobblestone streets and view the historic homes from Sikeston's storied past. The tour also includes historic parks, churches, public buildings and other points of interest. Sikeston Historic Home Tour brochures are available at area hotels, the Sikeston CVB office, 128 N.
