

ENDURA PERFORMANCE HOMES

Ryan McCoon

Ryan McCoon founded Endura Performance Homes on the idea that there is a better way to build homes. His focus is on creating homes that are energy and resource efficient; more comfortable and healthy to live in; durable and easy to maintain; and have less impact on the environment.

Ryan's passion for energy efficient and sustainable building is unmatched and reflects in the superior homes Endura completes. He believes that your new home should not only be architecturally beautiful, but it should also perform at a much higher standard, ensuring a healthy environment for your family and reducing the costs to operate

Ryan is partnering with DTE Energy this year in building an "All Natural Gas Home" and outdoor living space.
