

KA Construction of Northern Michigan Meet Kris Arnold

The father of four and a dedicated husband, Kris's family is his greatest achievement. Raised in Roosevelt Utah, Kris worked for large production builders out west, relocating to Traverse City in 2001. He is drawn to the small town feel of Traverse City and is appreciative of all the upscale amenities and contrasting seasons the resort community offers.

A true craftsman, Kris's hobbies include designing and creating unique and functional furniture for his friends and family. He leans towards the simplicity of the "craftsman styling" in his pieces, accenting them with layered moldings and intricate detailing.

Kris ensconces a high energy persona under his quiet and confident exterior. He thrives on challenges that make him and his team excel to new heights. Creating an atmosphere of synergistic collaboration with the homeowner, suppliers and his trusted associates results in a finished design that can literally brings tears to their eyes.

Working with families that entrust him with their dreams and visions is what makes his professional life rewarding and fulfilling. He expresses his gratitude with a shrewd attention to detail, high-caliber craftsmanship, realistic expectations and a nonexistent call back list!
