

NORTHWEST CARPENTRY

Steve Eveleigh

Steve Eveleigh founded Northwest Carpentry in 1998. With 20+ years experience in construction and construction management, Steve fosters a true team approach with each and every project. All carpenters involved in the construction of a Northwest Carpentry home are employees of Northwest Carpentry. They partner with a network of trusted, vetted trade subcontractors. This approach ensures open communication and enables Steve to navigate challenges and seize opportunities as they arise throughout the project.

His construction practices are guided by green building principles. As a Certified Green Professional (CGP™), Steve incorporates green and sustainable building principles into his homes, without driving up the cost of construction.

With effective value engineering and efficient estimating during the planning and design stages, Steve is able to present his clients with an accurate picture of their project prior to construction. He then monitors the budget and timeline throughout the process to ensure your project is completed on time and within budget.
