SACRAMENTO, CA Six new members have been appointed to the California Homebuilding Foundation Board of Trustees. Each trustee began a three-year term.

The newly appointed California Homebuilding Foundation (CHF) trustees are: Richard Baker, president, Ponderosa Homes, Pleasanton, CA; Colleen Edwards, marketing director, River Islands, Lathrop, CA; David E. MacLellan, chief executive officer, Pacific InterWest Building Consultants, Inc., Walnut Creek, CA; Layne Marceau, president, Shea Homes, Livermore, CA; Karen McCaffrey, vice president, McCaffrey Homes, Fresno, CA; and Chip Pierson, senior principal, Dahlin Group Architecture Planning, Pleasanton, CA.

"As a long-term trustee and current CHF chair, I am extremely pleased with our new trustees. The experience and dedication to the homebuilding industry that these individuals bring bodes well for the continued success of the Foundation," says Mike Cortney, CHF chair and chairman of the board of directors at UPC in San Jose, CA. The CHF Board of Trustees has 20 trustees, one honorary trustee, and 16 life trustees. The Foundation is based in Sacramento.

The California Homebuilding Foundation is a 501(c)3 tax-exempt organization. Founded in 1978 as the nonprofit affiliate of the California Building Industry Association, CHF is dedicated to strengthening the long-term growth of the building industry. CHF affords networking events, research and statistics, academic assistance, grant-funding and job training for high school students. The Foundation is the presenter of California's top industry award, the Hall of Fame, which recognizes industry leaders and offers their career examples as an inspiration to others.
