

WISE training opportunity to certify insulation contractors April 5 & 6, 2018

FOR RELEASE: March 26, 2018

SACRAMENTO—ConSol and High Performance Insulation Professionals (HPIP) are collaborating to offer training to California insulation contractors and builders in Culver City April 5th and 6th, 2018 as part of the Workforce Instruction for Standards and Efficiency \(WISE\) program.

Funded by the California Energy Commission's Electric Program Incentive Charge (EPIC) Program, WISE is a training and education program designed to support the transition to High Performance Attic \(HPA\) and High Performance Wall \(HPW\) construction in California.

The State has adopted aggressive energy efficiency building codes that will bring the wall and attic insulation standards found in custom homes into production homes. The WISE program provides free training and resources to insulation contractors in response to the need for tradespeople versed in these standards.

This two-day training seminar in early April is a joint effort of ConSol and HPIP to improve construction quality, encourage code compliance, and train a new generation of skilled workers in the techniques and practices that enable more energy efficient residential buildings.
