

Boone County Brief

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 2017

Dear Chamber Member,

As the end of October draws near so do many things in the tourism world, but some of our attractions are just gearing up, as is the Convention and Visitors Bureau. We have begun to work on a new budget, new ideas for next year and to refresh some things. Not all of our 2017 goals are complete. At the beginning of October, the CVB rolled out our first ever newsletter! Take a little time to see what is going on in Boone County travel by clicking the link below. Later this week I will be heading to the annual Iowa Tourism Conference in Sioux City where the agenda again this year will include numerous topics about keeping up with digital marketing.

A new exciting project for 2018 spearheaded by the Convention & Visitors Bureau is a creating a comprehensive community calendar. We are inviting event submissions that will draw guests to Boone County. Go to www.booneiowa.us and click on EVENTS CALENDAR. Those events that meet our criteria will be published in the 2018 Boone County Visitor Guide. The deadline for consideration of events in the visitor guide is Friday, November 17th. Speaking of the visitor guide we are taking the project in-house and Chamber staff will be reaching out to you to consider advertising space starting next week. Look for more affordable rates for 2018. Our visitor guide is the piece sent out to all welcome centers in Iowa, the main piece promoted at all tourism shows including at the Iowa State Fair (this past year we handed out 2,392 copies!), and is also viewable online as a PDF flip-book. Boone County averages 500,000 visitors each year and we expect 2018 to be our biggest year yet.

Have a great week!
